

Persistent Pelvic Pain Service

Helping you treat and manage pelvic pain

Jean  Hailes
FOR WOMEN'S HEALTH

Persistent Pelvic Pain Service

A unique approach

Persistent pelvic pain (PPP) affects 1 in 5 women at some stage in their lives. PPP is rarely discussed and can't usually be diagnosed by blood tests and scans. The causes are varied and complex.

Jean Hailes' Persistent Pelvic Pain Service offers a unique approach to helping women manage the symptoms of PPP. Jean Hailes offers multidisciplinary care to develop an individual care plan for each woman. A range of women's health professionals work together including general practitioners, gynaecologists, physiotherapists, psychologists, pain physicians, dietitians, naturopaths and acupuncturists.

If you're affected by PPP, please contact Jean Hailes to find out more about the service, including fees. You'll be asked to fill in a form that will help us determine which specialists you'll see.

Please go online or call us for more information.

Toll free: 1800 JEAN HAILES (532 642)

Who we are

Jean Hailes for Women's Health is a not-for-profit organisation. Our medical clinics have a reputation as centres of excellence in women's health care.

We are committed to the individual health needs of all women, focusing on careful assessment, education, support and management options that help women to be actively involved in making informed choices about their own health and wellbeing.

jeanhailes.org.au